

East Asia Section of IPIA—Young Scholars Symposium

Mission: This series of symposia aims to promote young scholars working on inverse problems in the East Asia region. The symposia also provide a platform for active young researchers to exchange ideas and research results with their peers as well as leading experts from the East Asia region and to explore opportunities for research collaborations.

Period of Symposium: The symposium is organized twice each year. Each symposium is approximately for two days.

Young Scholars: PhD students with publications, post-docs, assistant professors, newly promoted associate professors.

Organizing Committee: The organizing committee consists of 5 to 6 members. The local organizer serves as the chair of the committee. The members of the organizing committee will nominate the speakers of the symposium. Each member may nominate 3 to 4 speakers from his/her region, respectively.

East Asia Junior Scholar Award: In each symposium, one “East Asia Junior Scholar Award” will be selected. The members of the organizing committee are the judges of the award. The guideline of the award is as follows: the quality of the result (40%), the clearness of the presentation (50%), answering questions (10%). The winner will receive a certificate and a gift (prepared by the local organizer).

Budget: All committee members and speakers will receive local supports.
